

I Didn't Know That!

Relatively Unknown Twin Cities Legal Resources

Did you know that one of the leading legal referral resources in the Twin Cities isn't even a law-related organization?

Or that the largest website listing nonprofit legal providers in Minnesota had more than 260,000 visits last year?

Or that it's possible for a low-income person to receive at least 15 minutes of free legal advice by just showing up?

Learn about these and other relatively unknown Twin Cities legal resources during a two hour seminar organized by Call for Justice, LLC and sponsored by the Minnesota State Bar Association's Legal Assistance to the Disadvantaged Committee (LAD) and the Hennepin County Bar Association's Delivery of Legal Services Committee (DLS).

Who Should Attend?

Any legal provider or social service agency that has regular contact with low-income people with legal needs. This seminar is an excellent opportunity to learn about relatively unknown legal resources that might be of assistance.

Seminar Highlights Include

- Panels discussing Court System, Law Library and Bar resources that serve low-income people.
- Under-utilized legal resources that provide legal advice, including document reviews.
- Where to send low-income people for targeted legal referrals.
- How the Minnesota State and County Law Libraries assist persons in legal need.
- Resources for tenants at risk of eviction.
- And much more!
