FREE CLINIC

Fourth Saturday of the Month

Scott County Justice Center

The Scott County Law Library is offering a program to assist with divorce paperwork. Are you one of those people that feel you can't afford an attorney, but do not qualify for legal aid? Many self-represented litigants are going to court unprepared and with incomplete or incorrect paperwork. This program might be able to help.

The Scott County Law Library is partnering with the Minnesota Justice Foundation and local volunteer attorneys and students from Hamline, William Mitchell, St Thomas and the University of Minnesota Law Schools to offer assistance with filling out divorce paperwork using the MN I-Can computer program. Participants are asked to fill out a client intake form and preregister for the clinic. Pre-register by calling 952-496-8713
